

Film Stock and Aspect Ratio

Film Stock is the use of black and white or other colours as well as grainy effects to create an effect or feeling for the audience. For example , in The Grey the film is often in dull colours that are close to black and white to create a depressing and bleak mood. Aspect Ratio is the relation of width of the rectangular image to its height.