

Space

Space is the relationship between the foreground and background. The example I have chosen is from Jurassic Park. In this scene, the character of Muldoon is in the foreground while the background is blurred out. The depth of field changes and the background becomes clearer as the raptor emerges from the bushes.