

TOK exhibition examiner's comments

Example F

This is an example of a satisfactory exhibition. It was awarded a mark of 6/10.

The student identifies three objects and their real-world contexts. There are also clear references to the selected IA prompt. However, this response does not score more highly because while there is some explanation of the links between the objects and the prompt, this explanation is underdeveloped rather than well-explained. The response is significantly under the word count and would require further development and justification of points in order to achieve a higher mark.
